WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 22.—The Du Pont Powder company, in a statement tonight, denied dye experts engaged by the company and for whom warrants have been issued in Germany were brought to America to reveal trade secrets. The action taken in Germany, the statement said, was a move to prevent the development of a dye industry in this country.

"The Du Pont company employed Dr. Joseph Flechschander and Dr. Otto Runge," the statement said, "to interpret and help put into practical operation the processes and formulae covered by the German patents seized and made available to American manufacturers when this country went to war with Germany. In many cases the records filed with the patent office are incomplete, give misleading information and are otherwise so craftily devised that only a German chemist can put them into practical use."

"The American chemist has already solved so many of the problems involved in the manufacture of dyes that about all that is needed from Germany is the worker experienced in the manufacturing end of the business." by a sentry of Lieutenant Langdon of the United States cruiser Albany at official announcements are made in the diet tomorrow.

was chairman of the war industries board. The message follows: "What's the use of wasting time on Mason. He made these charges before and then didn't make good by bringing me before the bar of the house or to a court of justice. I challenge him to do either."

Power In Industry

Our hydro-electric companies find the demand for power for industrial purposes greater than their ability to supply it. New installations are required which necessitate an outlay of money.

To pay for this out of earnings would take many years. Public welfare would suffer by such delay.

The procedure is to mortgage present properties as security for a loan in form of a bond issue.
Investors who buy hydro-electric securities supply the driving power for our industries, become a factor in industrial prosperity, make possible created wealth—and get a good rental for their money.

Our role is in the distribution of these safe securities to invest
